

SPONSORSHIP PROSPECTUS

NORTH QUEENSLAND
THREATENED SPECIES
SYMPOSIUM

Cairns, 9-10 March 2023

PURPOSE

The 2023 North Queensland Threatened Species Symposium will provide a forum for people involved in recovery of threatened species to network and share knowledge. It builds on the success of the first symposium in 2021, bringing together people working on a range of species and ecological communities across north Queensland including the yellow bellied glider, sawfish, magnificent broodfrog, littoral rainforest, golden shouldered parrot and spectacled flying fox.

Topics discussed at the event will include:

- Planners and threatened species
- Recovery planning and coordination
- Onground actions and monitoring
- National, state and regional threatened species initiatives and prioritisation
- Challenges and solutions for Traditional Owner led threatened species recovery

Recovery teams and action groups will have the opportunity to present to other delegates about their work, the challenges they face and the opportunities they see for the future. They will also be able to meet experts and engage in discussion about research priorities, planning and management actions. More information about the symposium program and speakers will be available early next year.

WHY GET INVOLVED

- Connect and engage with leading scientists, experts, professionals, and community advocates in threatened species conservation in north Queensland
- Demonstrate your company's leadership, commitment, and contribution to best practice environmental management
- Gain positive brand association through promotional materials, website recognition, signage, and announcements
- Attendance for several representatives based on partner level

WHO WILL ATTEND

Targeted at threatened species recovery teams and action groups and Traditional Owners working on country, it is anticipated that more than 150 delegates will attend this event. These will include scientists, community conservation groups, Traditional Owners, government agencies and representatives from a range of organisations involved in conservation of threatened species in north Queensland.

THE ORGANISERS

This event is being hosted by the North Queensland Natural Resource Management Alliance (not for profit, collaboration between the North Queensland NRM organisations Cape York NRM, Gulf Savannah NRM and Terrain NRM) in partnership with the Department of Climate Change, Energy, the Environment and Water and the Department of Environment and Science.
